

THE ARTSREADY PROGRAM

The ArtsReady program assists employers in the arts, cultural and creative industries to engage young Australians in traineeships. ArtsReady is delivered by AFL SportsReady Limited, a not-for-profit organisation that specialises in education and employment for over 29 years.

Our national program prepares participants to graduate as job ready for the arts, cultural and creative industries. Offering on the job work experience for our trainees, from full-time employment to part-time, over one or two years.

All education is provided through accredited training, as the program develops and builds the trainees skills throughout the traineeship. We work alongside our ArtsReady employers for the entire traineeship from recruitment, trainee employment, through to graduation.

INCREASING OPPORTUNITIES FOR FIRST NATIONS PEOPLES

ArtsReady actively supports opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander trainees. With 40% of trainees that commence have identified as Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

The program runs in every state and territory but we also work with Federal, State and Local Governments, on bespoke employment solutions.

WHAT OUR TRAINEES SAY

“Without my ArtsReady traineeship I would not be here. Actually, I don’t think I would be in the industry. Thanks to my traineeship, I found my passion in life.”

Gabrielle Snell

Completed a traineeship with Siena College and is now studying Business at Swinburne University of Technology.

“Thanks to my traineeship I was able to break into the arts and creative industries and find a job I love.”

Georgia Croft

Proud Aboriginal woman, completed her traineeship as an Administration Assistant with Create NSW. Georgia is now the Events and Partnerships Coordinator at Screen Producers Australia.

“There is just so much breadth of what you can do in the arts. It’s not just the people who are on screen, or on stage. There are so many people involved in the arts and they all have crucial roles.”

James Handsaker

Completed a traineeship at the Australian Theatre for Young People (ATYP) and is now the Manager - Projects and Business Analysis at NIDA.
